Let's talk about your family.

1. What role does it play in each person's life?

They say, everything has its beginning in the family. I agree. To my mind, when a child is brought up in a friendly family, he will become a reliable and responsible person. That's because we pick up some useful habits in our families and in the family, we learn how to deal with other people.

In my opinion, family is an emotional centre of a person's life. It's a safe place for everyone. People can't live without their family's help and respect. As for me, I always get support and understanding from my parents and my siblings. My family members never ignore me.

To sum it up, family plays a very important role in each person's life, so its members should do their best to keep it going.

2. Do you agree that family traditions make family ties stronger? Prove your point of view.

I agree. Family traditions are the things that family members do together. They unite a family and create good feelings and special moments to remember. Every family should have some traditions.

3. What questions would you ask a family psychologist?

- ✓ How can I improve relationships with my parents?
- ✓ How long does treatment typically take?
- ✓ How do I know that the treatment helps?
- ✓ What is your experience in working with families?

4. What can you advise people who want to get on well with their parents?

Always remember that your parents love you. Try to understand them, show respect and love them. Help them about the house. Be polite.

5. Comment on the saying "Blood is thicker than water".

I think, it means that family relationships are always stronger than any other relationships. If you need help, ask your family, and then ask your friends.

1. What do you want to do in the future?

It's not easy for a school-leaver to decide on the future career. The job you choose has to bring you satisfaction. So, it should be something you really like, want and can do.

I've made my choice long ago. I decided to be a/an _____. This job matches my interests and abilities. I'm sure it will provide me with the respect of others, give good pay and independence, job security and chances of promotion.

2. Do you prefer to work by yourself or in a team? Why?

I can work both in a team and alone. It depends on the project to be done. I can work individually but I also enjoy brainstorming and cooperation with my mates.

3. What questions do you expect from your future employer at a job interview?

- ✓ What are your qualifications?
- ✓ Do you like to work in a team?
- ✓ Why would you like to have this job?

4. Give me some advice on what I have to think about when choosing a job.

I think you should

- realistically consider your abilities;
- study labour market information;
- ask yourself if you like this job.

5. Some people think that an applicant should be computer literate to get a good job. What do you think about it?

Nowadays it's impossible to imagine any prestigious profession without computer skills. Surely one of the first questions of any employer will be about your computer literacy. I hope I am a good computer user.
